Last updated : 17/11/2010
1. Context of national youth policy (give a brief assessment of youth policy in your country (achievements, problems, obstacles, tendencies ...)

Warning: All the information provided in this questionnaire concerns the French Community of Belgium (Communauté française de Belgique) which is the higher institutional level in charge of youth policy for young French speaking Belgians.

In the years 2008 and 2009, intense negotiations with the representatives of the youth sector have lead to several changes in the legislation in order to reform and adapt the following pillars of the youth policy in the French Community of Belgium:

- Composition and functioning of the French Community’s Youth Council, the official advisory board of the young people of the French Community of Belgium: new decree (2008-11-14);
- A new decree establishing the rules for recognition and subsidiation of Youth organisations (2009-03-26).

On the political level, the Declaration of Community’s Policy 2009-2014 - made by the Government that was established after the elections of June 2009 - announces among others the introduction of a transversal youth programme for the 12-25 years old. The Government also pledged to set up a Permanent Interdepartmental Conference dedicated to the matters relating to the Youth in order to allow a better articulation of Youth policies lead at the different levels of power (federal, regional, community).

Mention the number of all young people aged from 13 to 30 living in the country (if you do not have statistics covering this age range, please give the number of young people specifying the age range used).

3.1.2 Regional public authorities with competencies in the youth field
Describe the structure of authorities on the regional (or federal) level (existing institutions and their competencies and mandate; relation with national authorities in charge of youth and with EU institutions).

There are six regional sub-entities: five provinces (Walloon Brabant, Liège, Luxembourg, Hainaut, Namur) and the region of Brussels capital.
Each of these sub-entities has competences in the field of Youth: education, culture, sports, health, training, employment … and each one of them has expressed these competences in its own specific way. There is no coordinating structure.
The Hainaut province has a distinct “Youth department” (see: http://www.hainaut.be/) as the Liège province (http://culture.prov-liege.be/home.go?es=jn&sp=jn) which maintains a specific youth service.

The Walloon Brabant province has a “Culture, Sport and citizenship” department as well as a County Youth Council, with 18 representatives aged 12 to 16, elected for 2 years. See: http://www.brabantwallon.be/ and http://www.brabantwallon.be/index.cfm?Content_ID=6817018

In the other provinces such as Namur or the Region of Brussels Capital, the youth policy doesn’t show under a distinct heading but appears to be mixed with other fields of actions.

About the ties with the European Institutions: the « Europe Direct » are the information relays of the European Commission. These information points are being established with the collaboration of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs. Most of them are established within the Provinces. Some of the Europe Directs are not especially part of the provincial administration but are supported by these administrations.

3.1.3 Local public authorities with competencies in the youth field

Describe the structure of authorities on the regional (or federal) and local level (existing institutions and their competencies and mandate; relation with national authorities in charge of youth and with EU institutions).

Each municipal authority may take initiatives in the field of Youth. The initiatives taken may vary widely.

The list of municipal councillors in charge of youth matters in the 262 municipalities of the Walloon Region is available through a request at the following Internet address: http://www.uvcw.be/communes/requete.cfm

The services provided by the 19 municipalities of the Brussels-Capital Region, with detailed contact information, can be accessed at the following Internet address: http://www.avcb.be/comm/c_comm_fr.htm

3.2 Youth welfare services (comprising public and/or non public actors)

Structure and major organisations of (voluntary) social welfare and social services for young people
Please explain the structure of youth welfare services in your country and mention the major implementing institutions.

Warning: The specialised care and protection for the young people and their families in the French Community are a combination of public services and private (associative), publicly funded, initiatives. We focus here on the voluntary care and help. Compulsory care related to judicial decisions and criminal justice is not presented here.

http://www.aidealajeunesse.cfwb.be/ajss_pro/servicespro/

Regarding the voluntary care and protection services, we point out the (public) Youth Support Services (Services d’aide à la jeunesse (SAJ) and the (private) non residential care services (Services d’Aide en Milieu Ouvert: AMO). There are more than a dozen other categories of non residential (private) care services which are described at the following Internet address: http://www.aidealajeunesse.cfwb.be/ajss_pro/services1/servicesagrees/

- Youth support service (SAJ): is a public authority that works only in a protection framework (the SAJ doesn’t work in the civil, nor in the criminal field: it gives advices and orientations to young people up to 18 years old and their family, who are in difficulties or in danger. One of the SAJ’s objectives is to generate a solution to the problems, with the young and his family in order to avoid the intervention of the justice. There is one SAJ in each of the 13 judicial districts (Namur, Liège, Charleroi, Mons, Tournai, Nivelles, Bruxelles, Marche-en-Famenne, Neufchâteau, Arlon, Huy, Dinant, Verviers).

- AMO: The AMO is a service that provides help to young people up to 18 years old in their usual living environment (family, school, ...). AMO’s first priority is to help young people to thrive in their living environment and in their relationships with the social environment (among others at school, at home, in their neighbourhood, ...):
  - By giving them an individual help;
  - By supporting their projects;
  - By helping them cope with their family, school, administrative and legal difficulties.

The AMO service is free, confidential and anonymous. There are about sixty AMO in Brussels and Wallonia.
3.3 Non-public actors/structures & youth services with competencies in the youth field

Mention and describe non-public actors/structures who are directly or indirectly involved in youth policies, and have influence in the policy-making process and in the decision making process.

The youth organisations

The youth organisations are a major pillar of the cultural and associative life and an important partner in the youth policy.

These voluntary organisations are mainly composed by young people up to 30. They contribute to the development by young people themselves of their responsibilities and personal skills. They aim at making them active, responsible and critical citizens within society.

These associations fall in five recognized categories:

- Youth movements;
- Thematic movements;
- Youth services;
- Federations of youth organizations;
- Federations of youth centres.

In 2010, there were 86 recognized youth organisations plus 8 so called “groupings” in the French Community of Belgium.

The complete list of these youth organisations can be downloaded on the youth departement’s website: http://www.servicejeunesse.cfwb.be/sj_operateurs/#c855

The Youth Facilities, the Meeting and Housing Centres and the Information Centres

On a local scale, the Youth Facilities carry out cultural, recreational and sportive activities by and for the young people.

The core principle is the youth participation to the planning and realisation of their actions and the youth participation to the consultation and decision structures. Welcoming youngsters in groups or individually, the Meeting and Housing Centres organize residential activities of limited duration and encourage contacts between the groups and individuals that are joining it.
The mission of the Youth Information Centres is to promote the young people appropriation of the information and information tools through an ethic of pluralism, independence and sufficiency.

There are 189 recognized Centres (Youth Facilities, Meeting and Housing Centres, Information Centres) in the French Community of Belgium.

The complete list of these youth organisations can be downloaded on the youth departement's website: http://www.servicejeunesse.cfwb.be/sj_operateurs/#c855

Voir avec le service Jeunesse (Policy Review)

7.2 European Union programmes

Briefly explain how the YOUTH Programme is implemented in your country and provide a link/ to the institutions who implement this programme (National Agencies or other)

Please also refer to European action in the field of youth information (national website of Eurodesk)

The YOUTH Programme is implemented through 5 actions, which support different projects for young people (15-25 years old) within the European Union and with different partner countries (Mediterranean basin, Eastern Europe and Caucasus, South East Europe, Latin America). There are different possibilities: youth exchanges, voluntary activities, local projects, support for youth workers. In the French speaking Community of Belgium, the agency in charge of the implementation of the programme is: the International Office for Youth – BIJ.

8. Forthcoming events/conferences

8.1 Current developments/plans with regard to national legislation/guidelines
As stated in the Declaration of Community’s Policy 2009-2014 of the French Community Government, the Minister in charge of Youth Policies is currently initiating a transversal youth programme for the 12-25 years old.
Political intentions of the Minister are being discussed with the different stakeholders in the youth sector; they will be discussed by the Government in the beginning of the year 2011. Starting from spring 2011, these intentions will be translated in a program with specific targets. A dedicated working group will pinpoint the policy domains where youth organisations and youth care associations could directly contribute starting from the summer 2011.
This working group will be invited to make operational recommendations for revising the current measures taken for orienting young people through their studies and supporting them toward independence.
The whole process is designed to prepare a new Decree pertaining to the elaboration of a Youth long term plan before the end of the legislature.

8.2 Current developments/plans with regard to European youth policy priorities
