

Colour and religion doesn't make people different.

Love and friendship makes the difference.