

COYOTE

"Coyote - a resourceful animal whose blunders or successes explain the condition of life in an uncertain universe." (In: Jack Tresidder, The Hutchinson Dictionary of Symbols, 1997)

Coyote is a new magazine on issues around 'youth – training – europe'. It is addressed to trainers, youth workers and all those that want to know more about the world of youth worker training in Europe.

Coyote wants to provide a forum to share and give new insights into some of the issues that trainers face in their work, issues related to the diverse training concepts, methodologies, practices and realities across this continent. It also wants to inform about current developments in this field, especially at European level.

Coyote is published by the Council of Europe and the European Commission within their partnership in the youth field, with the aim to strengthen networking among trainers involved in European youth worker training and to promote the value of European level training for youth workers.

Coyote has come out twice this year: in July and December. From next year on, it will be issued 3 times yearly (in February, June and November). It can be received free of charge.

Coyote is also published on the web at
