4 Participation of young people in information:

European Youth Portal Eurodesk

YIC have their own volunteers, part-time workers, who cooperate with our YICs.

Eurodesk is developing the network of multipliers, consisting of young people and disseminating and providing information at the regional and local level

The most of YIC have own net of “comsats” - young people, most of them are from local schools, which help by dissemination of information (e.g. information on wall posters at schools, communication with friends about places where they can get information...).

Concerning information bulletins, it is necessary to keep high level of informational content. It is not possible that young people, they are not experts, create information publications.
